

Accredited Immigration Representative

Section: Immigration Representative Consultant Exams • Total Questions: 10 • Format: Verified Q&A

1. A bondsperson posts a cash bond for an FN's release. The FN asks an RCIC what would happen if they do not comply with the conditions. What should the RCIC advise?

- (A) The bondsperson will lose the money deposited.
  - (B) The bondsperson will have to pay additional money.
  - (C) The bondsperson will be replaced.
  - (D) The bondsperson will be arrested.
-

2. A minor client who arrived in Canada alone made a refugee claim after fleeing their home country. The child holds dual citizenship. What should the RCIC request from the RPD to protect the interests of the minor client?

- (A) Child's advocate
  - (B) Designated representative
  - (C) Temporary caregiver
  - (D) Adoptive delegate
-

3. A client made a refugee claim at a POE but failed to submit their BOC form within the 45-day time limit. What should the RCIC advise their client of the consequence?

- (A) A removal order will be enforced immediately.
  - (B) An abandonment hearing will be held.
  - (C) The RPD will require them to file a new claim.
  - (D) Their claim will be refused.
-

4. What type of document is commonly attached to such a letter from CBSA?

- (A) A deportation order
  - (B) A departure order
  - (C) A Minister's report
  - (D) A section 44(1) report
-

5. An RCIC is representing a client in their refugee claim. The RCIC notices serious discrepancies in the information provided by the client in their BOC form. Despite repeated requests, the client refuses to provide the correct information and argues that the RCIC is incompetent. The RCIC wishes to terminate the service agreement with the client. What is the potential impact on the client if the RCIC withdraws from representation without notifying the client or the RPD?

- (A) The RPD will render a decision without a hearing.
  - (B) The RPD may proceed with the hearing.
  - (C) The RPD must adjourn the hearing.
  - (D) The RPD will declare the case abandoned.
-

6. A client has received a notice of an admissibility hearing. The RCIC requests an adjournment to allow time to appoint a designated representative. How is the ID likely to respond?

- (A) Refuse the request.
  - (B) Grant the request.
  - (C) Request a psychological assessment.
  - (D) Ask for the Minister's opinion.
-

7. A refugee claimant who was denied refugee status is perfecting the appeal before the RAD. Which evidence could the appellant rely on?

- (A) The client's explanation as to why some of the evidence was deficient
  - (B) A witness statement about new threats from an agent of persecution
  - (C) New evidence that supports humanitarian and compassionate grounds
  - (D) An article submission related to the client's country condition
-

8. A refugee claimant intends to retain an RCIC for representation. What is the best practice to ensure the refugee claimant understands the service agreement?

- (A) Email a summary to the client.
  - (B) Summarize it verbally over the phone.
  - (C) Review a draft of the agreement with the client.
  - (D) Provide a signed-ready copy to the client.
-

9. What could be a reason for rejecting the bondsperson?

- (A) The bondsperson had permanent resident status.
  - (B) The bondsperson was not a family member.
  - (C) The bondsperson was only 18 years of age.
  - (D) The bondsperson was not available to testify.
-

10. A client who lost their appeal at the RAD 12 months ago is afraid to return to their home country. They are given options to argue their stay in Canada. What option should an RCIC recommend to the client?

- (A) Judicial review at the Federal Court
- (B) Humanitarian and compassionate considerations
- (C) File a new appeal under the RAD rules
- (D) Pre-Removal Risk Assessment